

IgniKids

A Complete Learning Support Platform from Ignis Careers

Children start interacting with their environment as soon as they are born. Their understanding of this world is built up gradually through successive interactions with their immediate environment.

It is this interaction which leads to experiences, which in turn results in learning.

Language being the bedrock of identity and meaning, language skills should be taught through multi-sensorial experiences in contexts that the learner can relate to.

IgniKids is based on an integrated multiple skills based curriculum primarily focusing on whole language development of children.

The series caters to the needs of the teachers and helps them overcome limited availability of resources and references in the schools.
